Additional requirements are indicated on individual award monographs.

NOMINATIONS: APhA publishes a call for nominations in Pharmacy Today, JAPhA, on APhA's Website and through other means. For all APhA Awards, the nominator is responsible for submitting the following:

1. Nomination on official form available from APhA.
2. A letter describing the most important achievements of the nominee, and explaining why the nominee meets the criteria for the award. The submission must be printed on white, unlined 8-1/2" x11" paper. Nomination should include description of community service, professional association membership, recognition record for practice activities, and innovative practice activities.
3. Supporting letters (optional) not to exceed six, should be sent with nominations for Profession-wide (except for APhA Fellows which are limited to two) and Student awards.

Supporting letters (optional) not to exceed two should be sent with nominations for Practitioner and Scientific awards.

If supporting letters are to be sent separately, the nominator should advise APhA Staff that they will be forthcoming by the deadline for submission and from whom they will be coming. Letters are to address the nominee's worthiness to receive the award.

4. A current full curriculum vitae or a detailed resume of the nominee.

For ease of duplication, nominations should not be sent in notebooks, binders, plastic covers or be folded. Send the nominations by U.S. Postal Service or other carrier by first class mail postmarked no later than the deadline date to: APhA Awards and Honors Committee, American Pharmaceutical Association, 2215 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20037-2985.

SELECTION PROCESS: The selection is made based on careful review of complete nominations. Upon receipt of a nomination, staff reviews it for completeness and conformity with guidelines. If acceptable, staff forwards the nomination to the appropriate group for review/recommendations. Incomplete nominations will be returned immediately to the nominator.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Remington Honor Medal

DESCRIPTION:

The Remington Honor Medal, named for eminent community pharmacist, manufacturer, and educator Joseph P. Remington (1841-1918), was established in 1918 to recognize distinguished service on behalf of American pharmacy during the preceding year, culminating in the past year, or during a long period of outstanding activity or fruitful achievement.

CRITERIA:

Any APhA member may nominate a person for the Remington Honor Medal. The nominee for the award need not be an APhA member. Self-nominations are not accepted.

SELECTION PROCESS:

Upon receipt of a nomination, staff reviews it for completeness and conformity with guidelines. Incomplete nominations will be returned immediately to the nominator. If acceptable, staff forwards the nomination to the Remington Honor Medal Screening Committee. The names of two nominees selected by the Remington Honor Medal Screening Committee, along with supporting documents, are forwarded with a mail ballot to the APhA Past Presidents who vote for the eventual recipient.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of the gold Remington Honor Medal, plus a) a complimentary meeting registration, b) round trip airfare, and c) hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days, based upon current APhA travel policies. A reception and an elegant dinner for the Remington Medalist are held during the Annual Meeting, at which time the recipient delivers a speech.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Hugo H. Schaefer Award

DESCRIPTION:

The Hugo H. Schaefer Award was established by the American Pharmaceutical Association in 1964 to honor the long-time APhA Treasurer, Dr. Hugo H. Schaefer, for a lifetime of contributions to the profession of pharmacy and in particular for his service to APhA. The purpose of the award is to recognize outstanding voluntary contribution to society as well as to the profession of pharmacy and APhA.

CRITERIA:

The nominee must be an APhA member who has made outstanding voluntary contributions to society, the profession of pharmacy and APhA. Remington Medalists are not eligible.

SELECTION PROCESS:

The selection is made by the APhA Board of Trustees based upon careful review of complete nominations.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of a medal bearing the likeness of Hugo H. Schaefer mounted on a wooden base, which is inscribed with the recipient's name and date of presentation. The recipient also receives a complimentary APhA Annual Meeting registration; round trip airfare, based on current APhA travel policies; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Hubert H. Humphrey Award

DESCRIPTION:

The Humphrey Award, named for the noted pharmacist, long-time APhA member, and public servant (senator from Minnesota and U.S. Vice President) was established in 1978 to recognize APhA members who have made major contributions in government and/or legislative service.

CRITERIA:

Nominees must be APhA members who are elected or appointed officials and who have served or are serving in government regulatory or legislative arena. Nominations must be made by an APhA member. Remington Medalists are not eligible.

SELECTION PROCESS:

The selection is made by the APhA Board of Trustees based upon careful review of complete nominations.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The Award consists of a medal bearing the likeness of Hubert H. Humphrey, on a polished metal pedestal mounted on a marble base, which is inscribed with the recipient's name and date of presentation. The award is presented during the APhA Political Leadership Breakfast. The recipient also receives a $1,000 honorarium; complimentary APhA Annual Meeting registration; roundtrip airfare, based on current APhA travel policies; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

The honor, conferred at the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of a plaque, a complimentary meeting registration, roundtrip airfare, and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies. The Honorary President serves a one year term commencing on the first day of the Annual Meeting following the year in which elected. The Honorary President may be requested to represent the Association at a meeting, or may be asked to preside in a ceremonial capacity.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Gloria Niemeyer Francke Leadership Mentor Award

DESCRIPTION:

This award recognizes an individual who has promoted and encouraged pharmacists to attain leadership positions within pharmacy through example as role model and mentor. The pharmacist for whom the award is named -- Gloria Niemeyer Francke, PharmD -- personally exemplifies the award's criteria. Dr. Francke, 1986 APhA Honorary President and 1987 Remington Honor Medalist, has inspired and mentored future leaders throughout her illustrious pharmacy career.

CRITERIA:

Any APhA member whose efforts or activities have significantly contributed to promoting leadership in others shall be eligible for this award. The recipient of the APhA Gloria Niemeyer Francke Leadership Mentor Award will be an individual who has promoted and encouraged pharmacists to attain leadership positions within pharmacy through example as a role model and as a mentor. Nominations must be made by an APhA member. Remington Medalists are not eligible.

SELECTION:

The selection is to be made by the past recipients of the award.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The Award consists of a crystal memento bearing the likeness of the APhA building and the name of the recipient; a $1,000 honorarium; complimentary APhA Annual Meeting registration; roundtrip airfare, based on current APhA policies; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies. The Award is sponsored by Eli Lilly and Company. The recipient also attends the APhA Presidential Leadership Dinner, held during the Annual Meeting, and provides brief remarks.

The American Pharmaceutical Association Fellows

DESCRIPTION:

The designations "APhA Academy of Pharmacy Practice and Management (APhA-APPM) Fellow" or "APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Research and science (APhA-APRS) Fellow" to honor respective Academy members for exemplary service and achievements in their professional area were established in 1987. In 1995, the APhA Board of Trustees acted to designate all Fellows, regardless of their Academy affiliation, as "APhA Fellows" (no academy specific designation). However, the selection of Fellows is still made by the respective academies. In 1995, the Board also increased the number of Fellows allowed per Academy per year from five to a maximum of ten.

CRITERIA:

The nominee must be an APhA-APPM or APhA-APRS member with a minimum of 10 years exemplary professional experience and achievements in professional practice. An APhA Fellow also has rendered outstanding service to the profession through activities in APhA and in other organizations. Examples of service to organizations may include having held an elected or appointed office, service on a committee, expert panel or review board, or other relevant activities.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award to be presented at the APhA Annual Meeting consists of a laminated plaque. Fellows also receive a lapel pin identifying them as APhA Fellows and noting the selecting academy.

Academy of Pharmacy Practice and Management Merit Award

DESCRIPTION:

The award recognizes pharmacy practitioners who have accomplished a single outstanding, distinctive achievement or accomplishment that has promoted or elevated the standard of practice. The award, established in 1988, is intended to recognize recent pharmacy graduates or pharmacists who have accomplished a single achievement. No more than five recipients can be selected for this award per year.

CRITERIA:

The nominee must be an APhA member, an APhA-APPM Member, and a recent pharmacy graduate or a pharmacist who has accomplished a single achievement. Remington Medalists are not eligible for the award.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award to be presented at the APhA Annual Meeting consists of a laminated plaque.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Academy of Pharmacy Practice and Management Presentation Merit Award

DESCRIPTION:

This award recognizes up to five presenters (or 5% of the total, whichever is greater) of presentations --non-compensated by APhA-- on practice-related subjects made at the American Pharmaceutical Association Annual Meeting poster sessions.

The award, established in 1988, is intended to give members an incentive to submit practice-focused papers to be presented during the APhA Annual Meeting.

CRITERIA:

Authors of practice-focused poster presentations during the APhA Annual Meeting are eligible for the award.

SELECTION PROCESS:

Award recipients will be selected at the APhA Annual Meeting by the APhA-APPM Awards Committee. The committee uses objective criteria to choose the presentation winners.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award to be presented at the APhA Annual Meeting consists of a ribbon that can be worn with the meeting identification badge and a rosette attached to the poster.

SCIENTIST AWARDS:

American Pharmaceutical Association

Ebert Prize

DESCRIPTION:

The Ebert Prize, established in 1873, is the oldest pharmacy award in existence in the United States. The award is for the best essay or written communication containing original investigation of a medicinal substance published in the APhA Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

CRITERIA:

Awardees need not be members of the American Pharmaceutical Association or the APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Research and Science for consideration. The paper selected for the award must have been published during the calendar year preceding the selection. In the case of papers authored by two or more persons, it must be determined which author conceived, directed and coordinated the research. Should two or more authors have essentially equal contributions, it is necessary to determine which person initiated the idea, and which pursued it more vigorously.

SELECTION PROCESS:

Since 1987, the award recipient(s) has/have been selected by the APhA-APRS Awards Committee. Steps in the selection process are: In mid-October the editor of the Journal of the Pharmaceutical Sciences selects five or six articles from the previous October through September issues of the journal and forwards them to the Editorial Advisory Board, which selects the best two or three articles. The articles so rated by the Editorial Advisory Board are then sent to the APhA-APRS Awards Committee for selection of the eventual recipient(s) of the best article.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award consists of a silver medal and an engraved certificate for the senior author of the selected article, plus an engraved certificate for each of the associate authors or "honored co-authors," if any. The senior author will receive a complimentary registration to the APhA Annual Meeting; roundtrip airfare; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Best Published Paper Award for Economic, Social and Administrative Sciences

DESCRIPTION:

The APhA Best Published Paper Award for Economic, Social, and Administrative Sciences was established in 1996. The purpose of the award is to recognize the best published paper describing original investigation in the areas of economic, social, or administrative sciences related to pharmacy.

CRITERIA:

The primary author must be an APhA member. The paper need not have been presented before the Association. The paper must represent original research, and must have been published in the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association (JAPhA) within two calendar years prior to the screening deadline (September 1 of the year prior to the presentation of the award.)

SCREENING PROCESS:

The ESAS Section Officers of APhA-APRS will screen all ESAS- related Articles published in JAPhA, and select and submit finalists to the APRS Awards Committee by the screening deadline.

SELECTION PROCESS:

The selection is made by the APhA-APRS Awards Committee.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of bookends and an engraved plaque for the primary author of the selected paper, plus an engraved plaque for each of the associated authors, if any. The primary author also receives a complimentary APhA Annual Meeting registration; roundtrip airfare, based on current APhA travel policies; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Research Achievement Award in the Pharmaceutical Sciences

DESCRIPTION:

The award, offered annually, is intended to recognize and encourage outstanding, meritorious achievement in any of the pharmaceutical sciences. Contributions to be recognized by this award will be in the areas of basic pharmaceutical, clinical, and economic, social, and administrative sciences. The APhA Research Achievement Award was first established in 1961 as six separate awards, each recognizing outstanding, meritorious achievement in six disciplines of pharmaceutical sciences. Since 1995, these awards have been consolidated into a single annual award.

CRITERIA:

The nominee must have accomplished outstanding research and must have published reports in the scientific professional literature which can be used as criterion in judging individual's contributions within a given category. This award is not restricted to members of the APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Research and Science (APhA-APRS). Eligibility for the award will rotate among the disciplines represented by the APhA-APRS sections on an annual basis. In 2002, the award will recognize contributions in the area of clinical pharmaceutical sciences. Self-nominations are allowed and encouraged for this award. Remington Medalists are not eligible for the award.

NOMINATION PROCESS:

Additional requirements from standard application:

1. At least three, but not more than six, supporting letters from scientists who are qualified to judge the pharmaceutical significance of the nominee's research record should be sent with the nominations. If supporting letters are to be sent separately, the nominator should advise APhA that they will be forthcoming by the deadline for submission. Letters are to address the nominee's worthiness to receive the award and include (a) the major research contributions of the nominee, and (b) at least two major examples of published research.

2. Sample article reprints of the nominee's most outstanding work.

SELECTION PROCESS:

The responsibility for nominating recipients of the award is rotated among the three sections of the APhA-APRS. The Executive Committee of the appropriate section also evaluates the nominations for the award. In addition, any individual may nominate an eligible candidate.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of an engraved plaque and a $1,000 honorarium. The recipient also receives a complimentary registration to the APhA Annual Meeting; roundtrip airfare; and hotel, meal and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) days based upon current APhA travel policies.

American Pharmaceutical Association

Postgraduate Best Paper Award

DESCRIPTION:

The award recognizes the author of the best contributed paper (podium or poster session) presented at each APhA Annual Meeting by a postgraduate student who must be an APhA member. Each APhA-APRS Section is eligible to identify a single award recipient. However, an award need not be presented by each Section each year.

CRITERIA:

The best paper will be selected on the basis of originality of the work, rigor of the experimental methods, the clarity of the presentation of the results, appropriateness of the conclusions, the potential significance of the study, and the overall quality of the presentation. The postgraduate (masters' or doctoral degree candidate, resident, fellow, postdoctoral scholar) must be the first author. The major portion of the paper being judged must have been done while the applicant was a postgraduate. However, the candidate may have completed his or her program of study at the time of presentation of the award.

NOMINATION PROCESS:

APhA publishes a call for nominations for the award. Applicants should indicate their intent to have the contributed paper considered for this award on the paper's abstract form submitted to APhA.

SELECTION PROCESS:

A panel of three or more persons will be selected by each APhA-APRS Section to judge the submissions. At least one member of the panel should be a Section Officer. At least one member shall have been on the Section's contributed papers abstract review committee. The judges may pre-screen submitted abstracts but will make their final selection at the meeting after having heard or viewed the presentations. Each member of the selection committee will therefore, be expected to attend the relevant sessions.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the Postgraduate Forum during the APhA Annual Meeting, consists of $500 honorarium and a certificate.

American Pharmaceutical Association Kilmer Prize

DESCRIPTION:

This award, established in 1935 in honor of Dr. Frederick Barnett Kilmer, former director of the laboratories of Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, New Jersey, and APhA member, is presented for a paper reporting meritorious work in pharmacognosy or natural products by an undergraduate or graduate pharmacy student. The award is administered and supported jointly by APhA and the American Society of Pharmacognosy (ASP).

CRITERIA:

Both undergraduate and graduate students in schools or colleges of pharmacy are eligible for this award. The student does not have to be a member of either the American Pharmaceutical Association or the APhA Academy of Students of Pharmacy.

NOMINATIONS PROCESS:

APhA publishes a call for nominations for the Kilmer Prize. The nominator is responsible for submitting the following:

1. A paper for consideration not revealing the identity of the school or any of the teachers connected therewith. Accompanying the paper must be a sealed envelope containing the address of the contestant and a certified statement from an officer of the institution that the contestant is a regularly registered undergraduate or graduate student in an accredited college or school of pharmacy in the United States. The submission must be typewritten on white, unlined 8-1/2" x 11" paper.

SELECTION PROCESS:

Papers are reviewed and judged by the American Society of Pharmacognosy.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The Kilmer Prize, presented at the annual meeting of the American Society of Pharmacognosy, consists of a gold plated lapel pin, suitably inscribed, bearing the likeness of Dr. Kilmer. APhA and the American Society of Pharmacognosy provide up to $600 to enable the recipient to attend the meeting. The Society also provides a complimentary registration for the annual meeting.

American Pharmaceutical Association Stimulation of Research Award

DESCRIPTION:

The APhA Stimulation of Research Award recognizes and encourages outstanding stimulation of research in peers, students, fellows, residents and others via publications or by research directing, serving as a preceptor, or mentoring in any discipline of the pharmaceutical sciences. This award is considered one of the three most prestigious APhA scientific awards and is presented every three years.

CRITERIA:

The nominee must have stimulated research in others as evidenced by his/her ability to motivate and inspire by performance or counsel and the ability to lead others toward outstanding accomplishments and effective careers in his/her particular field. Quantity and quality of research stimulated by the nominee in the individuals trained or mentored by the nominee will be given important consideration. This award is not restricted to members of the APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Research and Science (APRS). The research area for which the award is presented will rotate among the disciplines represented by the APRS sections. In 2002, the award will recognize contributions in the area of clinical sciences. Self-nominations are allowed and encouraged for this award. Remington Honor Medalists are not eligible.

NOMINATION PROCESS:

APhA publishes a call for nominations for the Stimulation of Research Award. The nominator is responsible for submitting the following:

1. At least three but not more than six supporting letters from scientists who are qualified to judge the significance of the nominee's stimulation of research should be sent with the nomination. Letters are to address the nominee's worthiness to receive the award and include (a) the major contributions of the nominee to the research ideas, attitudes, habits and achievements of others; and (b) examples (primarily of published works) of accomplishments stemming from those contributions. If supporting letters are to be sent separately, the nominator should advise APhA that they will be forthcoming by the deadline for submission.
2. Sample article reprints of outstanding research stimulated by the nominee.
3. To the extent known, a list of individuals (students, graduate students, residents, fellows, etc.) whose research was stimulated or directed by the nominee, or who were directly trained, precepted, or mentored by the nominee should be included. This list should mention the individuals' current area of research or significant published articles inspired or stimulated by the nominee.

SELECTION PROCESS:

The final selection is made by the APRS Awards Committee based upon a review of the recommendations from the appropriate section officers.

NATURE OF AWARD:

The award, presented at the APhA Annual Meeting consists of an engraved plaque and a $1,000 honorarium. The recipient also receives a complimentary registration to the APhA Annual Meeting; roundtrip airfare; and hotel, meal, and miscellaneous expenses for two (2) nights based upon current APhA travel policies.
